

From the journal:
Chemical Communications

The synthesis of an EDTA-like chelating peptidomimetic building block suitable for solid-phase peptide synthesis†

Jan Spengler,^{*abc} Michael Barker,^{ad} Constanze Schelhorn,^a Jesús García,^a María J. Macías^{ae} and Fernando Albericio ^{*abfg}

 Author affiliations

Abstract

A novo trifunctional EDTA-like peptidomimetic amino acid is described. This unique building block, which is prepared in a straightforward manner from commercialized starting materials, contains three moieties: a hexadentate chelating unit similar to that present in